

Campus Sustainability Award

Criteria

Candidates will be judged on their record of exceptional educational, professional, civic, or other advancement of sustainability, with emphasis on activities on the University of Colorado Colorado Springs campus. The award is designed to recognize candidates acting beyond their primary University responsibilities. We define campus sustainability as, "An engaged learning community demonstrating leadership in our policies, programs and practices toward local and global ecological integrity, social equity, and economic vitality."

Specific requirements are that the candidates:

1. be employees of UCCS,
2. be in at least their third year of employment at UCCS, and
3. have not received the award previously.

Nomination

1. Candidates for this award may be an individual or a group of individuals.
2. Anyone may nominate the candidate(s); self nominations are accepted.
3. Supporting materials are to be assembled by the nominator and must include:
  - a. A brief nominating letter that attests to the candidate's qualifications for the award;
  - b. any other supporting materials related to the candidate's sustainability activities particularly those that demonstrate the impact, innovation, or value of these activities;
4. The nomination and supporting materials should be delivered to the Chair of the Campus Sustainability Award Committee, Joel Tonyan (jtonyan@uccs.edu)

Nomination Deadline

Friday, February 28, 2020

Award

The winner of the Campus Sustainability Award will be recognized at the Campus Awards Ceremony.

Questions

Contact: Joel Tonyan, Campus Sustainability Award Committee Chair (jtonyan@uccs.edu)